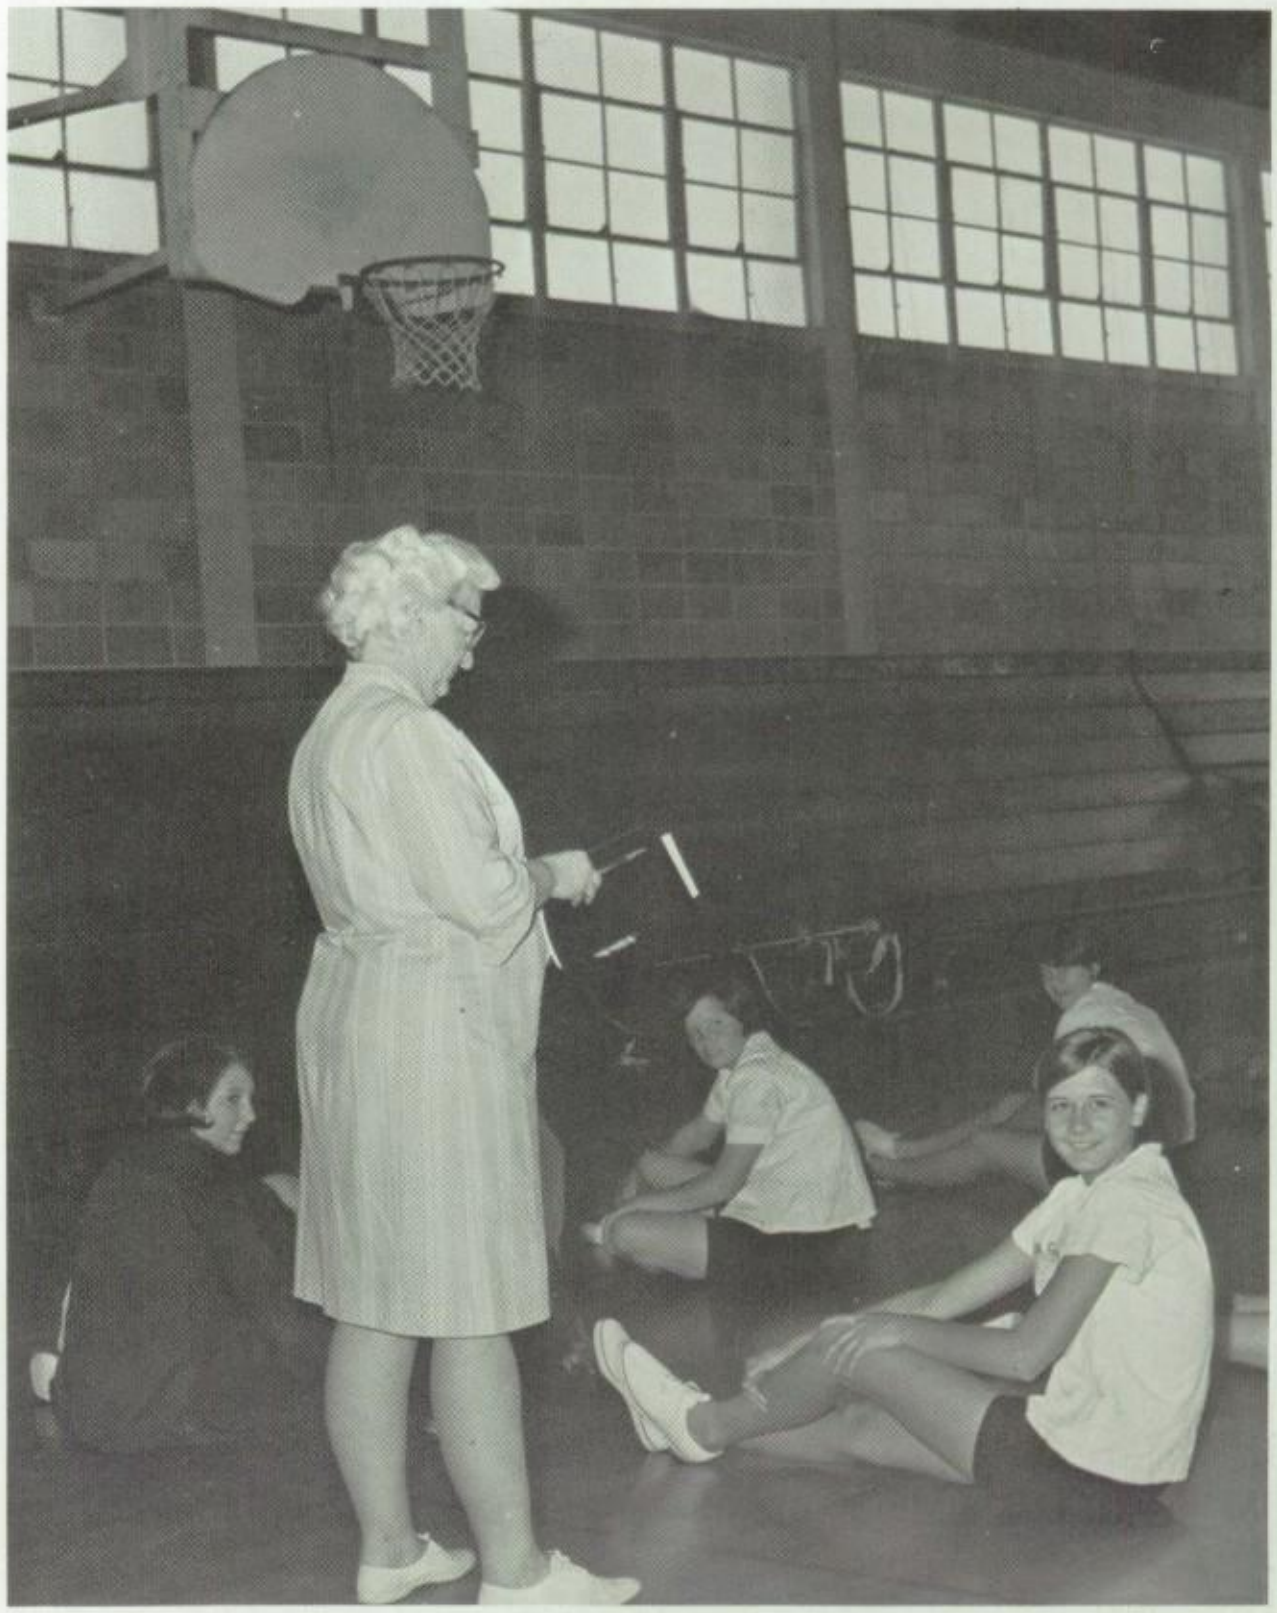
Dedication

As an expression of our love and affection and in grateful acknowledgment of all she has meant to us through the years, the Gecorala Staff proudly dedicates the 1971 Gecorala to Mrs. Dorris Hooper.



Administrator

Mr. J. P. Granger became principal of Geneva County High the year the seniors started first grade. He has seen each of us grow - inch by inch, grade by grade. We grew to know that this man would always find time to help us with our problems, answer our questions or just talk awhile.

For the unexcelled influence of his high standards and complete dedication, for his deep interest not only in his students, but in everything that affects our school, we will always remember and be grateful to our Mr. Granger.

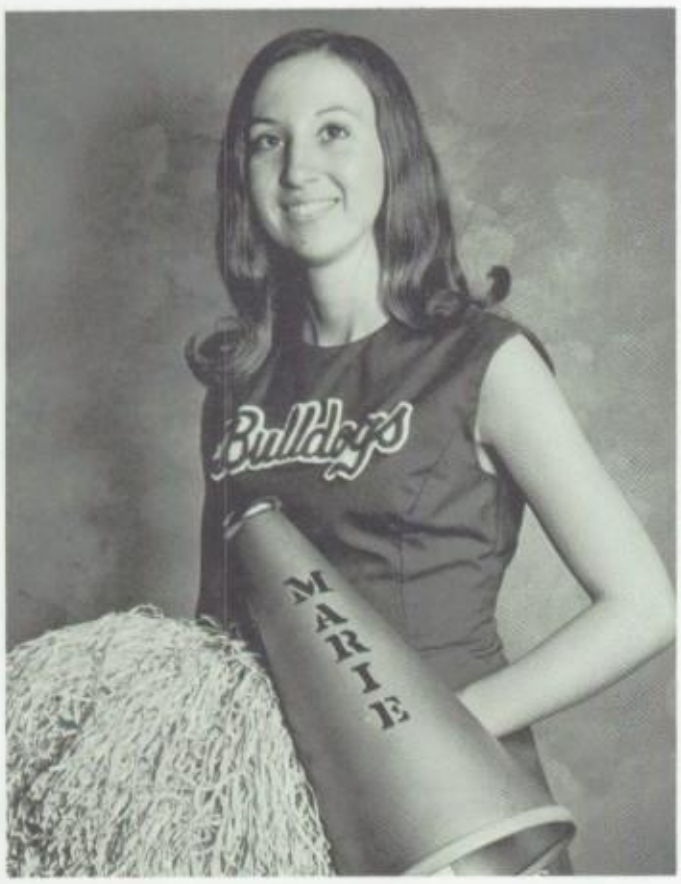
Always Yelling 'Till The End



Marie Lee

"Always yelling 'till the end" seemed to be the motto of the 1970-71 Cheerleaders. They supported the Bulldogs whole-heartedly, in both football and basketball. Not only did these girls yell at ball-games, they also were in charge of ten assembly programs, decorated the football field before the home games, decorated the stores before homecoming, were in charge of the Football Banquet, worked out pom pom routines, made dozens of posters and drew Bulldogs to help boost the schools' spirit. Experience and practice help make a squad better, and under the sponsorship of Mrs. Dorris Hooper, this group of girls made-up one of the finest cheerleader squads ever present at Ge Co High.

It's finally over ... deciding on the right college ... checking the mailbox daily to learn of our acceptance or rejection ... writing those term papers ... flashing our rings in the faces of underclassmen ... pep rallies ... football and basketball games ... yelling for the Bulldogs ... class Christmas parties ... AEA ... the Jr.-Sr. Banquet ... cap and gown measurements ... sending invitations ... senior privileges ... responsibility - a broader meaning and a deeper obligation ... the loneliness which resulted from these newly-acquired responsibilities ... learning to appreciate the people and things which we had taken for granted ... the anticipation of what will follow ... realization that the hardest is yet to come ... GRADUATION: a funny feeling in the pit of our stomach as we sing the Alma Mater for the last time.
